BASEBALL BOOMING

The last game of the Honolulu Baseball League will be played at Makiki this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock. The opposing teams are the Police and the Soldiers.

Following are the nines:

Police.	Catcher.	Artillery.
Leslie.	Bullock.
Joy.	Pitcher.	Boyle
C. F. Chillingworth.	First Base.	McMullen
A. Mossman.	Second Base.	Hawkins
Duncan.	Third Base.	Belsenroth
H. Mossman.	Shortstop.	Bennett
Lare.	Right Field.	Grant
R. Parker Jr.	Center Field.	Jones
F. Kanae.	Left Field.	Burbank

The Soldiers have won one league game, that with the Maile Ilimas; the Police have yet to be devirginated from a losing sequence. The Soldiers are favorites for today's game, and it was reported last night that some fatuous moon calves had laid the preposterous odds of three to one against the blue coats.

Should the Artillery win today they will take third place in the league, leaving the Police and the Maile Ilimas to combat for the wooden spoon. If the Police are victorious, however, the three teams will have tied for third place, in which event it is probable that they will engage in another series of games to decide their relative supremacy.

The game between the clerks of the Capitol and Judiciary buildings will take place next Saturday. The scene of the contest will probably be Puna-hou.

There is a growing sentiment in favor of a league formed on a three-game basis. Where a club meets another but once an accident may turn the tide of victory or defeat. A series of three games would, however, settle the question of supremacy beyond the possibility of doubt.

Clarence M. White, one of Honolulu's oldest and most enthusiastic baseball players, in an interview yesterday on local ball said:

"The game here has run down for various reasons. Noisy coaching and gambling on the games is the main trouble. The two and a half dollar gambler is too prominent at the games, and disgraces the decent portion of the spectators by his ribald efforts to frustrate and intimidate the players. For the good of the game this class of fellows should be suppressed. People want to see ball played, and not to listen to a noisy squabble.

"The umpire should be master of the field. The rules of the game provide for this. He can impose fines for unseemly conduct among the players, and should be protected. As things are here the umpire is hoodwinked, intimidated and bullied into making a decision. There are too many captains to every nine, which makes the duties of an umpire much more arduous than they would otherwise be.

"Noisy coaching should be prohibited. According to rules only one coach is allowed to act at a time, and he must only address the baserunner.

"I don't expect to see baseball placed on a solid basis this year. A grand stand is indispensable, and until one is provided the game is bound to languish. I would suggest the formation of a league somewhat on these lines: Eleven non-players who would constitute a nucleus of the league. Say four clubs applied for admission, and each club provided two men for delegates who had no place in the respective nines. These, with the eleven others would constitute the board, and by this means the conservative portion of the board would control the league. Any disputes would be settled by a board of appeal made up of the eleven non-players on the league board. These eleven men would constitute a permanent league.

"The umpires should be paid for their work and protected in their duties by strict rules and penalties. If a league were organized on these lines the public would quickly show the interest in baseball that they used to.

"It would be a good thing for the local clubs to obtain as large a membership as possible, then the fees would pay for uniforms and other expenses. I am satisfied that an enterprising man could go around town and in three days raise all the money necessary for building a grandstand. There is plenty of interest yet taken in the game, and public enthusiasm would quickly be aroused if baseball were properly and decently conducted. The self-respecting ball lovers have simply become disgusted with the low level to which the game has fallen here."

SPORTING BREVITIES

Harry Evan's old warrior, Billy McCluskey, wrenched an ankle some time ago and is being treated by Dr. Rowatt. He was blistered on Thursday, at it will be a long time before he races again.

Molly Connors and Amarino have been turned out.

At a meeting of the Honolulu Athletic Club, held this week, it was decided to reduce the initiation fee from $5 to $2.50. The prospects of the club for a strong football team are very bright.

The association football men will shortly get together and arrange plans for the coming season. All the old clubs will be reorganized and several new ones formed.

The regatta committee will meet some day next week and prepare a program for September 15th. The committee consists of A. A. Wilder, S. E. P. Taylor and Fred Church. The regatta funds are obtained by private subscriptions, and lists will soon be circulated.

Yachting continues quiet. Here and there a boat is being put in order, but it doesn't look as if sailing will cut much of a figure in the great aquatic festival next month. The customary big prizes are also liable to be lacking. In every class the result is, bar accidents, a foregone conclusion and to squander a large sum on sport of such calibre is like throwing it away. Better give it to the oarsmen, who at least strive to interest the public and to provide them with a spectacle well worth the watching. Apropos of this, the Pearl Harbor annual races cost each of the big clubs in the neighborhood of $1,000.

The Healanis have senior and freshman barge crews in training. Captain Kiehn is handling the former, and A. L. C. Atkinson the latter. The club particularly regrets the accident to Gaston Boisse, who would certainly have filled a place in the senior barge on Regatta Day.

The Myrtles have had their senior barge crew out several afternoons during the week. They have not yet been able to secure a suitable site for their new clubhouse, and have applied to the Bishop Estate for a two months' extension of time.

Pearson & Potter have on exhibition in their Fort street window the gloves with which Jim Jeffries defeated Bob Fitzsimmons. They were sent to Jimmy Fox of this city by Billy Delaney, Jeffries' trainer. A number of photographs of other noted fighters in various poses are also on view.

W. H. Cornwell leaves for the Coast in a week or so. He intends to have plans for a half-mile track and athletic grounds, to be constructed on his recently acquired property on the Waikiki road, prepared in San Francisco.

J. R. Wilson, of Nevada City, formerly manager of the Volcano Stables, is in town. He goes to Hilo next week. Various new baseball propositions are being discussed. One is for the Stars, the Honolulu Athletic Club and a nine picked from the Police, Artillery and Maile Ilimas, to play a series of games. A league is also talked of which shall consist of the Capitol building nine, the Judiciary building nine, E. O. Hall & Son, and a waterfront nine, composed mainly of custom house men.

"I can't understand," said a customer to us the other day, "how a dry goods store can continue prosperous while claiming to sell at or under cost, for I assume that honorable merchants mean just what they say."

This lady was not aware that the advertised articles are but a small portion of a firm's stock, and that only extraordinary values can find their way into print. A merchant who advertises falsehoods is doomed to failure. No wise one would do so.

The following under-priced values get mentioned this week:
